

The same model over-predicts or under-predicts depending on the window

Signed difference from the observed count across five cutoff-to-target windows

Any single window would have supported a confident conclusion about the direction of bias.

Source: backtest_multi_window.csv